Clemson's 2013 football schedule includes three games against teams that finished the 2012 season in the top 10 in the nation.

Two of the three games against top 10 teams from 2012 will be non-conference opponents Georgia and South Carolina. Clemson and Nevada are the only schools in the nation to play two non-conference games against teams that finished the 2012 season in the top 10.

Clemson will open the season with Georgia at home and close the season at South Carolina. The Tigers also face a 2012 top 10 Florida State team at Clemson on October 19.

Clemson will have a pair of Thursday night games that will be televised nationally by ESPN, September 19 at NC State and November 14 vs. Georgia Tech at Clemson. It will be Clemson's first home Thursday night game since October 25, 2002 when Clemson played NC State, and just the third in history.

"Having a Thursday night, nationally televised home football game on ESPN will be a tremendous positive for the university," said Athletic Director Dan Radakovich. "As the only football game on television that night, we will have an opportunity to showcase our football and athletics program as well as our university community."

"All of us within the Department of Athletics understand the complexities of playing host to a Thursday night game and the challenges it presents for many on campus, including professors with afternoon classes. We will work with President Jim Barker, university administrators and the appointed team to make the event a wonderful example of what Clemson University can do."

It will be just the second year that Clemson has played a pair of Thursday night games. The 2002 season was the only other year it has happened. With the two Thursday night games and a 14-week time span for the regular season due to the nature of the calendar, Clemson will not play on four Saturday's once the season begins (September 14, September 21, November 9 and November 16).

Clemson opens the season at home against Georgia, the first meeting between the two long-time rivals since 2003. Georgia finished the 2012 season ranked fourth by the USA Today coaches poll, while Clemson was ranked ninth.

The programs had legendary games during the 1977-87 era when both were consistent top 15 teams. The two teams were 5-5-1 against each other during that era and the average victory margin was just 4.7 points per game. Nine of the 11 games were decided by a touchdown or less.

Georgia won the National Championship in 1980 and a 20-16 win over Clemson was a big victory for the Bulldogs. Clemson then won the National Championship in 1981 and a 13-3 win over the fourth-ranked Bulldogs was one of the most important wins in the Tigers drive to the title.

After a game on September 7 against South Carolina State, the Tigers will have 12 days to prepare for their first ACC game, a September 19 contest at NC State. The two teams played the second highest scoring game in Clemson history in terms of combined points in a 62-48 Tigers win last year. Clemson has won eight of the last nine against the Wolfpack, but NC State won the last meeting in Raleigh in 2011.

Clemson returns home for a September 28 game against Wake Forest. Clemson has defeated the Demon Deacons at Clemson six consecutive games dating to 1998.

The first game in October will be at Syracuse in what will be the first ACC game for the Orange. Syracuse will play in the ACC this year for the first time after competing in football in the Big East every year since 1991.

It will be the second meeting on the gridiron between Clemson and Syracuse. The teams first met in the January 1, 1996 Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, FL. The game will be played in the Carrier Dome in Syracuse. Clemson has won each of its last two games in domed stadiums, wins over Auburn and LSU last year at the Georgia Dome.

Clemson returns for consecutive home games October 12 and 19 against Boston College and Florida State, respectively. Clemson has won four of the last five against Boston College, including each of the last two when the Tigers have scored at least 36 points in each game.

The winner of the Clemson vs. Florida State game has gone on to win the Atlantic Division of the ACC each of the last four years. In fact, the winner of the regular season meeting has gone on to win the ACC Championship each of the last two years. The Tigers have won five in a row over the Seminoles at Death Valley. Both teams finished in the top 10 of the final USA Today poll last year and should both be ranked in the top 10 of the 2013 preseason poll.

Clemson will play road games on consecutive Saturdays for the only time all year when the Tigers play at Maryland on October 26 and at Virginia on November 2. The trip to Maryland will be the last ACC game between the Terps and Tigers as Maryland will be in the Big Ten in 2014. Clemson and Virginia will play for the first time since 2009 when the Tigers won at Death Valley. The trip to Virginia will be the last out-of-state game of the year.

After an open date on November 9, Clemson will play host to Georgia Tech on Thursday night, November 14. It will be the second consecutive year Georgia Tech comes to Clemson, the first time a team has played two years in a row at Clemson since the 1993-94 era when four league schools played at Clemson back to back seasons. Georgia Tech played at Clemson on a Thursday night in 1998 and came away with a close victory.

Clemson will face The Citadel at home on November 23, giving the Tigers consecutive games against option offenses, then finish the regular season at South Carolina on November 30. This will be the first time Clemson has played a non-conference game the week before meeting the Gamecocks since 1979 when Clemson played Notre Dame in South Bend the week before playing at South Carolina.

"It is always exciting to get the schedule and plan out the season," said Clemson Head Football Coach Dabo Swinney. "It will be a challenging schedule from top to bottom with three teams that finished in the top 10 last year and those teams should be top 10 teams again this year. It will be a challenging ACC season as well. Thursday night games bring great exposure to your program and I am glad we do not have a quick turnaround (four days to prepare) in either situation."

Special game day designations such as Homecoming, Parents Day and Military Appreciation Day are listed in the schedule on the left hand side.

Fan Appreciation Day will be Aug. 18.

2013 SEASON OUTLOOK

OUTLOOK

LAUNCH PAD?

Chandler Catanzaro brought to a close the 2012 season with this field goal over #7 LSU as time expired in the Chick-fil-A Bowl. Can the momentum from that win propel Clemson to a special season in 2013?

When Dabo Swinney became Clemson's head coach in 2008 one of his stated goals was to bring consistent excellence to the Tigers program. Five years later some would say he has reached that goal. Clemson has won or tied for the ACC Atlantic Division Championship three of the last four years, something that had not been achieved prior to his appointment as leader of the program. That includes an ACC Championship in 2011, a first for the program in 20 years.

Clemson has had back-to-back seasons of at least 10 victories, another first for the program since the 1987-90 era. The Tigers are the only ACC team and one of just 13 programs nationally to win at least 10 games each of the last two seasons. There have been consecutive top 25 seasons, also a first for the program since the 1986-91 era, including a top 10 finish in the final USA Today poll in 2012, the highest final ranking since 1990.

Six of Clemson's 21 wins the last two years have come against top 25 teams, including four against teams ranked among the top 11 teams in the nation in at least one of the polls at the time of the game. That includes a 38-10 win over a third-ranked Virginia Tech team in the 2011 ACC Championship game, and a 25-24 win over seventh-ranked LSU in the 2012 Chick-fil-A Bowl, the highest ranked victory in a bowl game for the Tigers in nine years.

Clemson has three wins over Top 25 SEC teams over the last two years, the only non-SEC school nationally that can make that claim. In fact there have been only seven non-conference wins over SEC teams the last two years and Clemson has three of the seven.

One of the reasons for Clemson's significant improvement has been recruiting. The Tigers 2013 signee class was ranked 13th best in the nation by ESPN.com the Tigers third straight top 13 ranking by that network. Clemson joins elite programs Florida State, Alabama, Georgia, Ohio State, Notre Dame and Florida as the only programs to post three straight top 13 recruiting classes.

This list of accomplishments has been gratifying, but for Swinney, there are still many hills to climb. "I am proud of what we have done, but there is so much more to do," said Swinney.

"We have realized some accomplishments that haven't been done here in 20 or 30 years, but we have higher goals. We finished in the top 10 in the nation last year, but we want to do that multiple years. We reached a BCS Bowl in 2011, but we want to be in the mix for a BCS bowl every year. This is a program that has the resources, the tradition, the fan support, the overall infrastructure to compete for the National Championship."

The 2012 Tigers finished with an 11-2 record, just the fourth 11-win season in Clemson history. Swinney's team set a school record for conference wins in a season (7-1) and tied for the Atlantic Division championship. With the return of 13 starters and 53 lettermen from last year, (plus two others who lettered in previous seasons), there is experience and talent on the 2013 team.

"We have the pieces in place to have another very good season. We have returning experience on both sides of the ball. We have seven starters back on offense and six returning on defense. But on the defensive side we have four other players back who started four games or more. We have the opportunity to be a special team in 2013, but the ball is not round. We have to get some breaks and avoid injury. Because of the past two years this group knows how to prepare correctly."

One of the reasons Clemson should be a consensus top 10-15 team entering 2013 is the return of seven starters on offense from a unit that set 101 school records (33 team and 68 individual) in 2012. There are 26 returning lettermen on offense, 17 of whom played at least 100 snaps last year.

Offensive coordinator Chad Morris guided the offense to 41.0 points and 512.7 yards per game, both school records by a large percentage. The scoring average was sixth best in the nation, while the total offense number was ninth best. Clemson was even better in team passing efficiency at 163.1, fourth best in the nation, and the Tigers also led the ACC in passing at 321.6 yards per game, 13th best nationally.

The leader of that offense returns for his red-shirt senior year. Tajh Boyd will own 51 Clemson records when the season kicks off against a top 10 Georgia team in Death Valley on August 31. Those include career standards for touchdown passes, passing efficiency, touchdown responsibility and 300-yard passing games. He has led Clemson to all 21 wins over the last two years as starting quarterback and needs 11 more to tie Rodney Williams (1985-88) career record for wins by a starting quarterback.

Sammy Watkins also returns and will be Boyd's favorite target. A first-team AP All-American as an all-purpose player in 2011 when he had 82 receptions, Watkins played in just 10 of the 13 games (and one of those was for just two snaps against LSU) last year, but still finished with 57 catches for 708 yards and three scores. He averaged 107 all-purpose yards per game.

The biggest loss on the offensive side from a backs and receiver standpoint was DeAndre Hopkins, a second-team All-American who led the team with 82 catches for a school record 1405 yards and ACC record 18 touchdown receptions. He had 13 catches in the win over LSU for 191 yards and two scores. The reception yardage total was more than any other FBS player during the bowl season.

Top running back Andre Ellington also will be missed. Clemson's number-four ranked rusher of all-time was a first-team All-ACC selection in 2012. He was also an outstanding receiver out of the backfield.

One personnel number that brings a smile to Swinney's face as he approaches the 2013 season is the return of four starters from the offensive line. True, 2013 will be the first time he has not taken a snap from All-America center Dalton Freeman, a four-year starter, but Boyd does welcome back All-ACC tackle Brandon Thomas, starting guards Tyler Shatley and David Beasley, and starting tackle Gifford Timothy.

"If you look over the history of Clemson football, this program has done well in seasons it has four or five starters returning in the offensive line," said Swinney. "Experience and timing through repetition is so important to the success of an offense." Historically, Clemson has won 76 percent of its games when it has at least four returning starters in the offensive line.

Clemson's defense showed improvement over the course of the season under first-year defensive coordinator Brent Venables. The Tigers finished the season 22nd in the nation in sacks, including a season high six in the bowl game against LSU. Clemson held the SEC Tigers to just 219 yards and nine first downs, and forced eight three-and-outs in the Chick-fil-A Bowl.

Officially Clemson has just six starters returning on defense and only two of the top six tacklers return, but there are 10 players returning on defense who started at least five games last year. Spencer Shuey and Stephone Anthony ranked second (93) and fourth (77) in tackles, respectively, last season and return to anchor the linebacker position.

Josh Watson is back for his junior year after leading the defensive line in tackles in 2012 with 54. Travis Blanks is the leading returning tackler from a hybrid inebacker/safety position a year ago. He looks to be Clemson's starting free safety in 2013 after getting 51 tackles a year ago.

Other returning starters on Clemson's point prevention unit include Grady Jarrett at defensive tackle, Corey Crawford at defensive end, and Quandon Christian at outside linebacker.

Clemson's greatest losses on defense include top tackler Tig Willard, who had 95 stops and a team best 10.5 tackles for loss, Malliciah Goodman, a defensive end who had seven sacks, including three in the bowl win over LSU, and Rashard Hall, who had 85 tackles from a safety position to go with a team best four interceptions, must be replaced.

"I believe our front seven will be one of the strengths of this team," said Swinney. "We lost just one player off the defensive front line in Goodman and return three players who have significant time starting at linebacker. Spencer Shuey was one of the more impactful players we had last year. We have a strong corps of linebackers and a strong group of young players backing them up. We won't know what we have in the secondary until August when we have a lot of new talented players join the roster."

Clemson should be strong in the special teams area led by the return of senior kicker Chandler Catanzaro, who missed just one field goal attempt in 2013. He kicked the 37-yard game winner against LSU in the Chick-fil-A Bowl at the horn. Spencer Benton is a big loss on special teams as he handled so many duties, including starting punter. But Bradley Pinion is back after a solid freshman season gaining experience at punter and kickoff duties.

OFFENSE

Clemson has become one of the top offenses in the nation over the last two years. Clemson has improved from 88th in the nation to ninth in total offense, from 86th to sixth in scoring and from 111th to second in redzone scoring offense. Clemson is a big play threat as shown by an improvement from 100th to first in offensive plays of 25 yards or more.

Last year Tajh Boyd completed 287 of 427 passes for 3896 yards and 36 touchdowns. That was a 67.2 completion percentage and his efficiency rating was 165.6, also a school season record. He finished fifth in the nation in efficiency, the highest national ranking for a Clemson quarterback since Mike Eppley was third in 1983. An average game for Boyd last year was completing 22 of 33 passes for 300 yards and 2.8 touchdowns.

The native of Virginia had three different games with five touchdown passes last year as he guided a Clemson offense that scored at least 37 points in 10 of 13 games. He was honored at the end of the 2012 regular season by being named a first-team All-American by the Football Coaches Association, the first Clemson quarterback named a first-team All-American by one of the five major services.

Boyd has had incredible performances in big games as evidenced by the fact he was the Most Valuable Player of the 2011 ACC Championship game and the 2012 Chick-fil-A Bowl. He was most notably named the Most Valuable Player of the ACC in 2012.

Many feel Boyd will be a Heisman Trophy candidate in 2013 after accounting for 46 touchdowns rushing and passing, just one less than 2012 Heisman winner Johnny Manziel of Texas A&M.

"When you look at Tajh Boyd's track record it shows improvement every year," said He takes coaching very well. He studies the game and watches film of himself to get better. Knowledge plus experience, plus talent, plus work ethic equals a great quarterback. He is also a natural leader of this entire team, not just the offense. He has become the face of this program."

Boyd should be well protected in 2013 as the Tigers return four starters in the offensive line. The Clemson program has averaged nine wins a year over the last 30 years when it has at least four starters returning up front on offense.

Cole Stoudt was Boyd's backup last year and actually had a higher completion percentage (.692). He will be challenged for the backup spot by freshman

Chad Kelly. Stoudt is the son of former Pittsburgh Steelers signal caller Cliff Stoudt, while Kelly is the nephew of former Buffalo Bills quarterback Jim Kelly.

The offensive line must replace four-year starting center Dalton Freeman, a first-team All-American by the Football Writers Association, a second-team Academic All-American last year and a two-time finalist for the Rimington Award. While Freeman and his leadership qualities are a major loss, the return of four starters on the offensive line does brings optimism.

"We are finally reaching the point where we have some depth in the offensive line. We have four starters back, but the players behind them have some experience also. Competition is good at any position, but especially in the offensive line. We have 12 returning lettermen. It is the depth that we used to see from Clemson teams when Danny Ford was the coach (1979-89).

The four returning starters up front have 61 combined starts entering the 2013 season. Eight of the 12 returning lettermen have played at least 10 games.

Brandon Thomas was a first-team All-ACC left tackle last year and will be an All-America candidate as a senior. He played 987 snaps for Clemson's record setting offense last year, more than any other player on the Tigers team in 2012. For his career, the native of Spartanburg, SC and Dorman High School has 36 games played and almost 1,900 snaps of experience.

Joining Thomas at a starting tackle position is Gifford Timothy. In his first year as a starter, Timothy had 11 starts and played 820 snaps. Prior to last season, Swinney said there were some offensive linemen who had to step up if Clemson was to be successful and Timothy obviously was one of those key players who did. Timothy was named to the Academic All-ACC team last year.

The returning starting guards are Tyler Shatley and David Beasley. Entering last year, neither had started a game on the offensive line. Shatley played 939 snaps in the 13 games and started every game. Originally a fullback, then a defensive lineman, Shatley is one of the strongest players on the team and is the only active Tiger to letter on both side of the line of scrimmage over his career. He also was named to the Academic All-ACC team last year.

Beasley, a junior from Columbus, GA and Carver High School, played just 30 snaps prior to 2012. But, he made a big move in August practice and started 12 of the 13 games and played 764 plays on offense. He made his move in the season opener against Auburn when he played 89 snaps and had four knockdown blocks.

Ryan Norton is the odds on favorite to move into the starting center position. The native of Simpsonville, SC played 277 snaps last year in 12 games at the center and offensive guard positions. He was named the Offensive Rookie of the Year for the Clemson coaches. Clemson coaches are pleased with his versatility and athleticism. Freshman Jay Guillermo red-shirted last season after coming to Clemson as an ESPN 150 player out of high school.

Isaiah Battle is an interesting story. He came off the bench at tackle for Timothy in the Chick-fil-A Bowl against LSU and held his own against LSU's defensive ends, both of whom will go early in the NFL draft. He played 153 snaps for the season, but 73 of them came in the LSU game. He will compete for significant playing time at a tackle position in the off season. Shaq Anthony had two starts and 123 snaps of action last year as a red-shirt freshman.

Joe Gore is another athletic tackle who played in five games. Eric MacLain lettered as a tight end and special teams player last year, but he will be a tackle when August practice begins.

Reid Webster is a versatile offensive lineman who has played 16 games the last two years, while Spencer Region is a former ESPN 150 player who played 61 snaps in five games at guard last year. Kalon Davis played 166 snaps at guard last year and has played 23 games over the last two years. Patrick DeStefano is a 6-5 offensive lineman from Spartanburg and will challenge to see action as a red-shirt freshman.

Clemson lost some outstanding receivers off of the 2012 team, led by Hopkins, who set nine records last year. The Tigers also must replace productive tight end Brandon Ford, who had 40 catches for 480 yards and a school tight end record tying eight touchdown catches. Jaron Brown is another starting receiver with over 1000 career receiving yards lost from last year who also had great leadership qualities.

But, Clemson does have returning receivers who caught 147 passes for 1593 yards and 13 scores in 2012.

The wide receiver position is led by All-American Sammy Watkins, who has 139 receptions for 1927 yards and 15 touchdowns over his first two years. He joins former Tigers Derrick Hamilton and DeAndre Hopkins as the only players in ACC history to catch at least 50 passes as a freshman and as a sophomore.

While Watkins did not have the production of his freshman year on a total basis, he still averaged 5.7 receptions and 71 yards per game, just below his 5.9 catches and 87 yards a game of his freshman year.

Adam Humphries is the second leading returning receiver off a 41-catch season as a sophomore. He will also see action as a punt returner. Charone Peake returns after grabbing 25 passes for 172 yards, while Martavis Bryant is a big play performer who averaged 30.5 yards a catch on 10 receptions last year. That average was best in the nation among receivers with a least 10 receptions last year.

Sam Cooper is an improving tight end who caught 10 passes for 93 yards and two scores last year, while Stanton Seckinger is another returning letterman who will be in the mix at tight end. Darrell Smith is a reliable senior who is a hybrid fullback/tight end who is also a big contributor on special teams. J.J. McCullough red-shirted last season and also will be a factor at tight end.

Swinney must replace three-year starter Andre Ellington as the primary running back. Ellington finished his career with 3,436 yards, fourth best in school history. He also accounted for 33 rushing touchdowns, third best in school history, and averaged 5.4 yards per rushing attempt, sixth best.

Ellington rushed for 1081 yards in 2012 and his production will be hard to replace. But, the Tigers do have 10 of the top 11 rushers returning from an offense that averaged 191 yards per game on the ground.

The leading returning rusher is actually Boyd, who had 514 yards and scored a team best 10 touchdowns. But, among the running backs, Rod McDowell leads the way with 450 yards on 83 attempts, a strong 5.4 average. He also scored five times. D.J. Howard is another experienced letterman who had 138 yards and a couple of scores during an injury plagued season. Zac Brooks, a true freshman in 2012, returns after getting 119 yards last year.

DEFENSE

Clemson showed improvement on defense last year under first year coordinator Brent Venables. The Tigers finished third in the ACC in scoring defense, second in conference games. The Tigers were also first in the ACC in red-zone defense and first in fourth-down defense.

The leading returning tackler on Clemson's defense for 2013 will be senior linebacker Spencer Shuey. The native of Charlotte, NC had just 17 tackles over the first five games of the 2012 season, then had seven in just 24 snaps in the win over Georgia Tech. His spirited play that included a tackle for a safety, got the attention of the Clemson coaches and he made his first career start the following week against Virginia Tech.

He turned in a 15- tackle performance against the Hokies that included 2.5 tackles for loss, a major reason Clemson defeated future Hall of Fame coach Frank Beamer's team 38-17. That was the first of three straight double figure tackle games for Shuey and four in a five-game period. He finished the season with 93 tackles, just two short of the total accumulated by leading tackler Tig Willard, who played 181 more snaps over the course of the season.

Stephone Anthony is another returning leader at the linebacker position. The junior had 77 tackles in just 459 snaps, an average of a tackle every six plays. Anthony, also a native of North Carolina (Polkton), had four double digit tackle games last year, including the game at Florida State.

Another returning linebacker with significant experience is Quandon Christian. The quick senior started seven games last year and had 40 tackles in 447 plays. He was a big factor in midseason wins over Georgia Tech and Virginia Tech with 14 combined tackles.

Other returning lettermen at linebacker include Tony Steward and B.J. Goodson. Steward has fought off injuries his first couple of seasons, but has been productive when called upon. He had 26 tackles last year, including 12 that were special teams stops, most on the team. He averaged a tackle every 5.2 plays on defensive scrimmage plays. Goodson had four tackles as a special teams player a year ago.

A player who will definitely be in the mix at linebacker is Kellen Jones, a 6-1, 220-pound sophomore who will be eligible in 2013 after transferring from Oklahoma. He had some strong performances in preseason scrimmages last year. Justin Parker red-shirted last year due to injury and returns to the linebacker position with considerable experience.

Clemson's first line of defense returns starters Corey Crawford, Josh Watson and Grady Jarrett. Backups Vic Beasley, DeShawn Williams, D.J. Reader and Tavaris Barnes also give Clemson some depth across the front.

Crawford started all 13 games at defensive end in 2012 and had 47 tackles, including six tackles for loss. A junior in 2013, Crawford had eight tackles in the win over Virginia Tech and six in the win over NC State, big wins in Clemson's drive to tie for the Atlantic Division title.

Watson might have led the defensive tackles in big plays last year. The junior had 54 tackles, most among the returning defensive linemen, 12 quarterback pressures, and a blocked kick last year.

Jarrett was named the most valuable player of the Clemson defense in 2012, quite an honor for a sophomore. He had a strong finish to the season with four tackles, including a sack in the win over LSU and had 8.5 tackles for loss for the season, most among returning Clemson defensive players.

Williams, the son of former Clemson All-ACC running back Ronald Williams, had 50 tackles in five starts and played 370 snaps in 2012. He played one of his best games against Georgia Tech when he had seven tackles. Reader, also a baseball player at Clemson, was among the most productive players on defense with 40 tackles in just 236 snaps, a tackle every 5.9 plays.

Vic Beasley was the surprise of the Clemson defense last year with a team best eight sacks in just 288 plays of action. Three of those sacks came in the win over NC State and quarterback Mike Glennon. Barnes had 24 tackles a year ago as a defensive tackle and end.

Clemson's secondary will be led by returning starter Travis Blanks. The native of Tallahassee, FL played outside linebacker and as a fifth defensive back much of last year. He figures to play safety in 2013. Blanks had 51 tackles to rank eighth on the team in 2012. He made eight starts, including the Florida State game when he made a season high eight tackles in front of his hometown fans.

Bashaud Breeland and Garry Peters are two more returning secondary players who had significant experience last year. Breeland played in 10 games and started five before missing the last two games with an injury. He had 32 tackles for the season. Peters saw more playing time in the second half of the season and finished with 20 tackles and eight passes broken up, including two important deflections in the win over LSU.

Darius Robinson started six of the first seven games a year ago before missing the final six with an injury. He had 13 tackles an interception and two passes broken up over the first half of the year. Robert Smith is a returning letterman at safety who had 14 tackles in 13 games a year ago.

Martin Jenkins played 25 games over the 2010 and 2011 seasons, including three as a starter and he returns off an injury red-shirt season as well. He was a key contributor in the secondary to Clemson's 2011 ACC Championship team.

SPECIAL TEAMS

All-America candidate Chandler Catanzaro leads Clemson's special teams. The senior from Greenville, SC made 18-19 field goals last year, fourth in the nation in field goal percentage. He owns 10 Clemson records overall and is coming off a season in which he led Clemson's record scoring team with 111 points.

Catanzaro made 5-6 outside 40 yards last year and has made 20-27 for his career from that distance. He needs just four field goals of 40 yards or more in 2013 to break all-time great Chris Gardocki's Clemson record for made field goals of 40 yards or more.

Catanzaro has been a clutch kicker as well. In 2011 he made a 43-yard field goal on the last play of the game to beat Wake Forest and clinch a spot in the ACC Championship game. Last year he made a 37-yard field goal on the last play of the game to beat LSU 25-24.

Clemson must replace Spencer Benton, the Swiss Army Knife of the Clemson special teams a year ago. Benton punted, kicked off and served as the holder on placements last year. He even kicked a 61-yard field goal against Ball State to set the ACC record.

But, Clemson does have a kicker with experience in two of those three areas. Bradley Pinion had nine punts last year for a 39.4 average, including a net figure of 38.8, two yards better than Benton. Pinion also had 26 kickoffs, 18 of which went for touchbacks.

As far as the return game is concerned, Sammy Watkins will be a leader there. Watkins averaged 20 yards per return last year and has a 23-yard average for his career. Adam Humphries is a returning starter in terms of punt returns.

BRING THEM BACK

The Tigers return seven of eight players from the two-deep on the defensive line, and add in several highly-touted recruits to the mix. Clemson ranked 22nd in the nation in sacks in 2012, and a big season could be on the horizon in 2013.

CLEMSON UNVEILS INDOOR PRACTICE FACILITY

[11-12 RECORD IN 2012 • CHICK-FIL-A BOWL CHAMPIONS • ACC ATLANTIC DIVISION CO-CHAMPION]

Given the weather Friday, it would have been difficult for Clemson to pick a better day to demonstrate exactly why it needed an indoor facility for football.

With temperatures hovering in the upper 20s and hail and sleet pelting the roof, the university held a dedication ceremony for its new Clemson Football Indoor Practice Facility, the 80,000-square-foot, $10-million structure the Tigers moved into just ahead of their victory over LSU in the Chick-fil-A Bowl to close the 2012 season.

Clemson head coach Dabo Swinney pointed out simply by virtue of the five practices his team held in the facility prior to winning that game, the highest-rated non-BCS bowl game ESPN has ever televised, it had already begun to pay dividends for the program.

"Whatever the final price tag on the building was, it's not even close to what it would have cost to have a three-and-a-half-hour infomercial for Clemson University in front of millions and millions of people who get to watch it," Swinney said.

Swinney was the last of five speakers at the ceremony, which the university invited fans to attend. Despite the wintry weather, Tiger fans turned out in droves to tour the new facility.

Director of Athletics Dan Radakovich, who has now been on the job for nearly two months, said the hundreds who attended the ceremony demonstrated the passion that was the very reason he wanted to come to Clemson in the first place.

"That's why it was important to have this day open for the Clemson family," he said. "And how apropos that we're in an indoor facility on a lousy day outside. We didn't plan that. But we're going to plan a lot of other things. We have a lot of things to do here within the athletic program to keep pace with the people with whom we compete."

The first speaker of the day was senior place-kicker Chandler Catanzaro, whose 37-yard field goal as time expired lifted the Tigers to their 25-24 win over the then-No. 7 Bayou Bengals in the bowl game.

"I cannot express how excited me and the rest of the players, as well as the staff, are to have this beautiful facility," he said. "As Coach Swinney is always reminding us, the best is the standard here. This building clearly represents what the best is all about ... and I believe this day brings us one step closer toward our goal of bringing another national championship to where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness."

In addition to the full-length football field housed within, the facility features state-of-the-art video and audio capabilities, a weight room that overlooks the practice field, a training room and doctors' area, and storage areas, among other bells and whistles. There are also plans to add a "pro player" locker room on the upper level with NFL logos and televisions for former players to have their own space when they return to campus.

President of the IPTAY Board of Directors Charles Dalton said the project was one of which his organization, the athletic department's fundraising arm, was very proud.

"IPTAY always likes big, bold, highly visible projects; we have talked to Terry Don (Phillips) from time to time about bringing us those big, bold projects - the kind of projects that directly affect our athletic program and make our athletic program more competitive, that improve us on the field and on the court, projects that people can see and put their passionate feelings behind - and I don't know how you can get much bigger and bolder than this," Dalton said.

Phillips, who retired as athletic director in November when Radakovich was named his successor, oversaw the completion of the project as one of his final acts of business at the reins of the athletic department.

"I want to thank our IPTAY donors, our Major Gift donors, our IPTAY Board, our Board of Trustees," Phillips said. "This is an opportunity to say thank you to you. Your support for our athletic programs is tremendous."

Radakovich declined to take much credit for the facility, as it was largely built and funded prior to his arrival, though he did reiterate the need for Clemson to "go faster" in terms of facility upgrades for all its athletic programs.

"All the credit for this certainly goes to Terry Don and (Associate Athletic Director for Facilities and Grounds) Robert (Ricketts) for their vision and taking Dabo's lead here and saying, 'This is a desire. This is a need here. How do we fill it?' And one of the ways that it was filled here is by the generous donations of the IPTAY members and the IPTAY Board specifically allocating the money," Radakovich said. "So, I get the opportunity to be here and see this open, but so many people did such great work here in order to get to this spot."

Clemson Accomplishments 2012 Team

- Won 11 games for the first time since 1981 and for just the fourth year in Clemson history joining the teams of 1948, 1978 and 1981.
- Second consecutive season of at least 10 wins, first time the program has done that since 1987-90 era.
- Ranked ninth in final USA Today poll and 11th by Associated Press. First top 10 in either ranking for Clemson program since the 1990 season when Tigers were ninth in both polls.
- Won seven games in ACC play, tied for the most in a season in Clemson history.
- Ranked in every poll during the season for the first time since 2000. Has streak of 29 straight polls with a top 25 ranking, one of six schools that can make that claim, and it is the third longest streak in Clemson history.
- Ranked in every BCS top 20 poll for the second straight year.
- Set Clemson record for consecutive home wins with 13.
- Set season record with seven consecutive wins by at least 14 points and nine total wins by 14 or more.
- Set ACC record for consecutive games scoring at least 37 points (10).
- Senior class set record for conference wins (regular season) with 23, and total wins with 24 (including ACC Championship game of 2011).
- Senior Class won 36 games total, sixth most in school history for a class and most since the seniors of 1991. All 13 seniors in the class graduated.
- Began and ended the season with wins over top 25 SEC teams in the Georgia Dome. Beat #25 Auburn in opener, then defeated seventh ranked LSU in the Chick-fil-A Bowl, highest ranked Clemson win in a bowl since 2003.
- Clemson overcame a deficit entering the fourth quarter to win a bowl game for the first time since 1959 when it defeated seventh ranked LSU on New Year's Eve.
- Team had four All-Americans, including QB Tajh Boyd, C Dalton Freeman, WR DeAndre Hopkins and WR Sammy Watkins.
- Had six of the 11 first-team All-ACC players on offense, most in Clemson history and most by any ACC team since Florida State in 1995.
- Clemson had eight players named to ESPN All-ACC Bowl team.
- Just the second Clemson team in history with a 1000-yard rusher (Andre Ellington), 1000-yard receiver (DeAndre Hopkins) and 3000-yard passer (Tajh Boyd).

Offense

- Had four different offensive players who made first or second-team All-American in 2012. Those were quarterback Tajh Boyd, wide receivers DeAndre Hopkins and Sammy Watkins, and center Dalton Freeman.
- Clemson offense set 101 school records on an individual and team basis.
- Among the more significant team records were most points (533), most total offense (6665), most plays (1062), most passing yards (4181).
- In terms of national rankings, Clemson was sixth in scoring (41.0), ninth in total offense (512.7), seventh in total plays run (1062), third in touchdown passes (40), fourth in passing efficiency (163.03), fifth in third-down conversion percentage, sixth in passing yards per attempt (8.8), and 13th in passing yards per game (321.2).
- Clemson set ACC records for total offense yards in a season (6665), total plays (1062) and touchdown passes (40).
- Clemson also led the nation in scoring percentage in the redzone at 94.92 percent, was tied for first in fourth down conversion percentage (77.8 percent) and first in pass plays of 25 yards or more with 51.
- Clemson led the ACC in scoring at 41.0 points per game, tied for first in total touchdowns with 68, first in total offense (512.7 yards per game), first in passing offense (321.6 yards per game), first in passing efficiency at 163.1, first in touchdown passes (40), first in third down conversion percentage (51.5 percent), first in fourth down conversions

(77.8) and first in red-zone scoring (94.92).

• Clemson finished the season with a 25-24 win over LSU, a game in which the Tigers ran 100 plays, and picked up 445 yards of total offense against one of the nation's top 10 defenses in terms of scoring and total defense.

Defense

- Clemson ranked in the top 25 in the nation in three-and-outs with 52, including eight in the bowl victory over seventh ranked LSU. Clemson had more three and outs on defense than Notre Dame's defense in 2012.
- Clemson's defense held LSU to just 219 yards total offense in the Chick-fil-A Bowl, including just 99 yards rushing. LSU entered the game averaging 180 yards a game in terms of rushing. The 219 total yards were the second lowest of the season for the seventh-ranked Tigers.
- Clemson was third in the ACC in scoring defense, second in conference games.
- Clemson's defense had two of the top five leaders in the ACC in quarterback sacks in Vic Beasley and Malliciah Goodman. Beasley had eight and Goodman had seven, including a Clemson bowl record three in the Chick-fil-A Bowl win vs. LSU. Goodman also led the ACC in forced fumbles and finished eighth in the nation.
- Clemson finished the season third in the ACC in sacks with 34 and second in negative sack yardage with 257. That included six sacks in the win over LSU, the second most sacks in a bowl game in Clemson history.
- Clemson finished 20th in the nation in total sacks and 13th in sack yardage.
- Clemson was 20th nationally in red-zone defense percentage.
- Clemson was 15th in the nation in negative yardage on tackles for loss with 381.
- Clemson was 17th in the nation in kickoff coverage.
- The Tigers led the ACC in fourth down conversion defense at 42.3 percent.
- Clemson led the ACC in redzone defense as well allowing 75 percent scores. The Tigers forced five red-zone turnovers tied for first in the ACC.

Special Teams

- Chandler Catanzaro had a streak of 20 consecutive made field goals over the 2011 and 2012 seasons, the fourth longest streak in ACC history.
- Catanzaro's 37-yard field goal on the last play of the game gave the Tigers a 25-24 win over seventh ranked LSU, the highest ranked team Clemson has beaten in a bowl game in nine years. It was the fourth walk-off field goal in Clemson history, the second for Catanzaro.
- Catanzaro finished the season 18-19 in terms of field goal percentage, best in Clemson history. He was fourth in the nation in field goal percentage.
- Clemson had 50 touchbacks as a team on kickoffs, fifth most in the nation.
- Spencer Benton kicked a 61-yard field goal against Ball State, not only a Clemson record, but an ACC record and the longest in the nation this year.

Tigers Lead Nation in Ranked Wins over SEC Schools by Non-Conference Foes 2011-12

Ranked SEC teams have lost seven games to non-conference opponents the last two years and Clemson owns three of those wins. The Tigers defeated a 19th ranked Auburn team at Clemson in 2011, a 25th ranked Auburn team to open 2012 and ended the 2012 season with a win over seventh ranked LSU at the Chick-fil-A Bowl.

Clemson will begin the 2013 season against a top 10 ranked Georgia team.

Below is a list of the non-conference wins over top 25 SEC teams over the last two years:

School	SEC Opp	AP-USA	Year	Site	Score
Clemson	Auburn	21-19	2011	Clemson, SC	38-24
Clemson	Auburn	25-NR	2012	Atlanta, GA	26-19
Clemson	LSU	9-7	2012	Atlanta, GA	25-24

Boise State	Georgia	19-22	2011	Atlanta, GA	35-21
LA Monroe	Arkansas	8-10	2012	Fayetteville, AR	34-31
Louisville	Florida	3-4	2012	New Orleans, LA	33-23
Michigan St	Georgia	18-18	2011	Tampa, FL	33-30

Clemson Indoor Football History

Clemson has a 6-5 all-time record in indoor football games. That includes the 25-24 victory over seventh ranked LSU in the 2012 Chick-fil-A Bowl. Clemson will play at Syracuse in an indoor game in 2013.

Clemson has a 4-5 mark in the Georgia Dome, a 1-0 record in the Superdome (against Tulane in 1981), and a 1-0 record in Japan's Tokyo Dome (against Duke in 1991).

Double-Digit Wins

Clemson recorded its 10th victory of the 2012 season, including its seventh in a row, in a 62-48 win over N.C. State on November 17. It is the first time since the 1987-90 era that Clemson has had consecutive 10-win seasons. Clemson was 10-4 in 2011 when the Tigers won the ACC championship.

Clemson has nine seasons of 10+ wins in history. The first double-digit victory season came in 1948, when Frank Howard's team had a perfect 11-0 record, including a Gator Bowl win over Missouri. Clemson also won the Southern Conference that year.

The record for wins in a season is 12, set by the 1981 team. That team was 11-0 in the regular season, then beat #4 Nebraska in the Orange Bowl to win the national title.

The win over the LSU gave Clemson 11 wins for the first time since 1981 and for just the fourth time in Clemson history. The other seasons with at least 11 wins are 1948, 1978 and 1981.

Clemson 10-Win Seasons

1989	Danny Ford	10-2	83.3	Gator
1990	Ken Hatfield	10-2	83.3	Hall of Fame
2011	Dabo Swinney	10-4	71.4	Orange
2012	Dabo Swinney	11-2	84.6	Chick-fil-A

Back to Back 10-win Seasons

Clemson has recorded back-to-back 10-win seasons. The Tigers were 10-4 in 2011 and won the ACC Championship with a 38-10 victory over #3 Virginia Tech. In 2012, Clemson finished 11-2, including a 7-1 ACC record that tied for the Atlantic Division title.

This is the first time Clemson has had consecutive 10-win seasons since the 1987-90 era, when Clemson had four consecutive 10-win seasons. In all four of those years, Clemson won the 10th game in a bowl game. Clemson is the only ACC school and one of just 13 schools nationally with at least 10 wins each of the last two seasons.

Tigers Finish in BCS Top 15

Clemson was #14 in the final BCS standings, released on

2013 NOTES

December 2. It marked the third time in the last six years that Clemson finished in the top 15 of the BCS standings and the fourth time overall. Clemson was #15 in 2011 and #15 in 2007. The 2000 season is the only other year Clemson had a top-15 finish in the BCS standings.

Clemson is tied for ninth in the nation for the most top-15 BCS finishes since 2007 (the last six seasons). Louisiana State and Oklahoma have the most with five, while Alabama, Boise State, Florida, Ohio State, Oregon, and Virginia Tech are tied for third with four apiece.

Clemson, Georgia, Oklahoma State, Stanford, and TCU all have three top-15 finishes apiece during that time period.

Clemson Enters 2013 on 29-Poll Streak

Clemson was ranked ninth by USA Today and 11th by AP in the final polls for 2012. Clemson is on a streak of 29 straight weeks ranked in the top 25 of at least one poll entering the 2013 season.

It is the longest streak Clemson has been ranked in at least one poll since the October 23, 1989 to October 24, 1992 era, when the Tigers were ranked in a record 50 consecutive polls (at least one). Clemson was also ranked in 45 straight polls (at least one each week) between November 3, 1986 to October 9, 1989. The only week Clemson was not ranked in a 95-poll streak between 1986-92 was on October 16, 1989 after a loss to Georgia Tech at Memorial Stadium.

Therefore, this streak of 29 in a row is the third-longest streak in Clemson history. Alabama, Clemson, Louisiana State, Oregon, South Carolina, and Stanford are the only schools in the nation who have also been ranked in at least 29 consecutive polls.

Six Wins over Top 25 Teams Last Two Years

When Clemson defeated seventh ranked LSU in the Chick-fil-A Bowl on New Year's Eve 2012, it gave Clemson six wins over top 25 teams the last two seasons. Clemson opened the 2012 season with a win in the same facility over 25th ranked Auburn. So over the last two years Clemson has 21 wins and six of them are against top 25 teams, including four against teams ranked in the top 11 of at least one poll.

Clemson defeated four top-25 teams in 2011, the most in one season in school history. Each of the last four wins over top 25 teams have been away from home.

Clemson Breaks Home Winning Streak Record

Clemson set the school record for consecutive wins in Memorial Stadium with its win over Maryland on November 10. The Tigers increased it to 13 in a row with a victory over N.C. State on November 17. That set the record for most consecutive wins at home, regardless of site. South Carolina ended the streak on November 24 with a 27-17 win over the Tigers.

Clemson's Highest Ranked Victories

Clemson defeated #7 Louisiana State on December 31 in the Chick-fil-A Bowl. It was the 13th triumph in school history over a team ranked in the top nine of at least one of the major polls. The last time Clemson did that was 2011, when Clemson beat #3 Virginia Tech in the ACC Championship game.

That win tied for the highest-ranked team Clemson has beaten. The Tigers also beat #3 Florida State in 2003.

Clemson's other two top-five wins came in the 1981 season, a 13-3 victory over #4 Georgia and future Heisman Trophy winner Herschel Walker, and a 22-15 victory over #4 Nebraska and future Heisman Trophy winner Mike Rozier. Clemson defeated two Hall of Fame head coaches in those contests as well, Vince Dooley (Georgia) and Tom Osborne (Nebraska).

Clemson's 2012 Offense Among ACC's Best

Clemson's 2012 offense was among the best in ACC history. In terms of scoring, Clemson's 533 points are second-most in league history, and just 17 points short of the record 550 Florida State scored in 14 games in 2012.

Clemson's 41-point average was fourth-highest in ACC history, and Clemson's 68 touchdowns are tied for the third-most in league history as well. Florida State scored 68 this year also.

In terms of total offense, Clemson had 6,665 yards, most in school history. In terms of yards per game, the 512.7-yard average for the 2012 team is fourth-best and one of just seven teams in ACC history to average at least 500 yards per game.

700 Club

Clemson gained 718 yards (334 rushing, 384 passing) at Duke on November 3. It was just the second time in school history Clemson totaled at least 300 rushing yards and 300 passing yards in the same game. The first instance was in a 70-14 win over Central Michigan, led by Head Coach Butch Jones, in 2007. Therefore, this was the first time Clemson accomplished the feat on the road and the first time it was accomplished in an ACC game.

Then in the win over N.C. State, the Tigers did it again. Clemson had 754 yards (328 rushing, 426 passing).

Overall, it was the second-highest total offense game in school history and is topped only by the 756 yards the Tigers gained in a win over Wake Forest in 1981. That day, Clemson had a school-record 536 rushing yards and 220 passing yards in the 82-24 win at Death Valley.

Clemson had an incredible 487 yards on 43 plays in the first half at Duke, then had 441 yards in the first half against N.C. State. Those are the top two halves in Clemson history in terms of total offense.

There have been just 13 games in ACC history in which a team has had at least 700 yards. Clemson did it twice in 2012.

Winning Total Offense an Indicator of Victory

Clemson had a 10-0 record in 2012 when it outgained the opposition (yards) and is 20-0 over the last two years. The 20-game winning streak dates to the 2010 Meineke Car Care Bowl, when Clemson outgained South Florida 296-279, but lost the game 31-26.

Overall, Clemson has a 35-2 record under Head Coach Dabo Swinney when it outgains the opposition. The only other loss also took place in 2010, when Clemson outgained Florida State 391-307 in Tallahassee, but lost 16-13.

Seven Straight Wins by 14+ Points

Clemson won a school-record seven consecutive games by 14+ points, all in ACC play, this year. Clemson had a six-game streak of wins by 14+ points from 1989-90. Clemson also won six games in a row by 14+ points in 1978. The 2012 streak began with a 45-31 win over Boston College on September 29. The last victory in the streak was a 62-48 win over N.C. State.

First Half Frenzy

To say Clemson got off to a good start offensively in each of its 13 games in 2012 would be an understatement. Clemson had the lead at halftime in 12 of the 13 games this year (all but the LSU game) and the average margin in Clemson's favor was 15 points (27-12).

A look to the stats shows that Clemson averaged 27 points, 6.7 yards per play, 306 yards of total offense, 203 passing yards, and 104 rushing yards in the first half in 2012. Clemson has had at least 35 points in the first half in five games.

In 11 of the 13 games, Clemson had at least 248 yards of total offense by halftime, and in eight of the 12, Clemson had at least 190 passing yards in the first half. Clemson scored at least 13 points in the first half of all 13 games and scored at least 20 points in nine games.

Leading Entering Fourth Quarter

One thing Clemson has done well the last two years is holding a fourth-quarter lead. The Tigers are 17-0 the last two years when leading entering the fourth quarter (8-0 in 2011 and 9-0 in 2012).

Clemson has an active streak of 18 consecutive wins when leading entering the fourth quarter. Clemson's last loss in that situation was a 16-13 defeat at Florida State in 2010, a game Clemson led 10-6 entering the fourth quarter.

Overall, Swinney is 33-3 when leading entering the fourth quarter since he became Clemson's head coach in October of 2008. The three losses are Georgia Tech in 2008 (his first game as head coach), TCU in 2009, and Florida State in 2010.

Clemson came from behind to win the Chick-fil-A Bowl. The Tigers outscored LSU 12-0 in the fourth period to win by one.

Tigers Score Every Way Possible

Clemson scored every possible way in its victory over Georgia Tech on October 6 in its 47-31 victory. The Tigers scored five touchdowns, kicked three field goals, kicked five extra points, had a two-point conversion, and added a safety. It marked the first time Clemson had scored every possible way since the 2007 Virginia Tech game, a contest the Tigers lost 41-23. Clemson also scored every possible way against N.C. State in 1998 in its 46-39 defeat.

Third Down & Fourth Down Success

Clemson was one of the top schools in the nation when it came to third-down and fourth-down conversion offense in 2012. Clemson tied for the national lead in fourth-down conversion percentage, converting 14-18 opportunities (77.8 percent). That included converting a fourth and 16 in the Chick-fil-A Bowl against LSU on its last drive of the game that led to a game winning field goal on the last play.

The Tigers' third-down conversion rate is 50.5 percent (106-206), fifth-best in the nation. Clemson was solid on defense as well. Opponents converted on third down just 34 percent of the time (24th-best in the nation) and 42.3 percent on fourth down (34th-best).

Points off Turnovers

Clemson had a 111-51 advantage in points off turnovers in 2012, and Clemson was 8-0 when it won that statistic. Clemson has actually won 14 consecutive games when it wins the points off turnover stat. The last loss took place at Auburn in 2010, a 27-24 overtime loss.

Since Dabo Swinney became head coach in 2008, Clemson

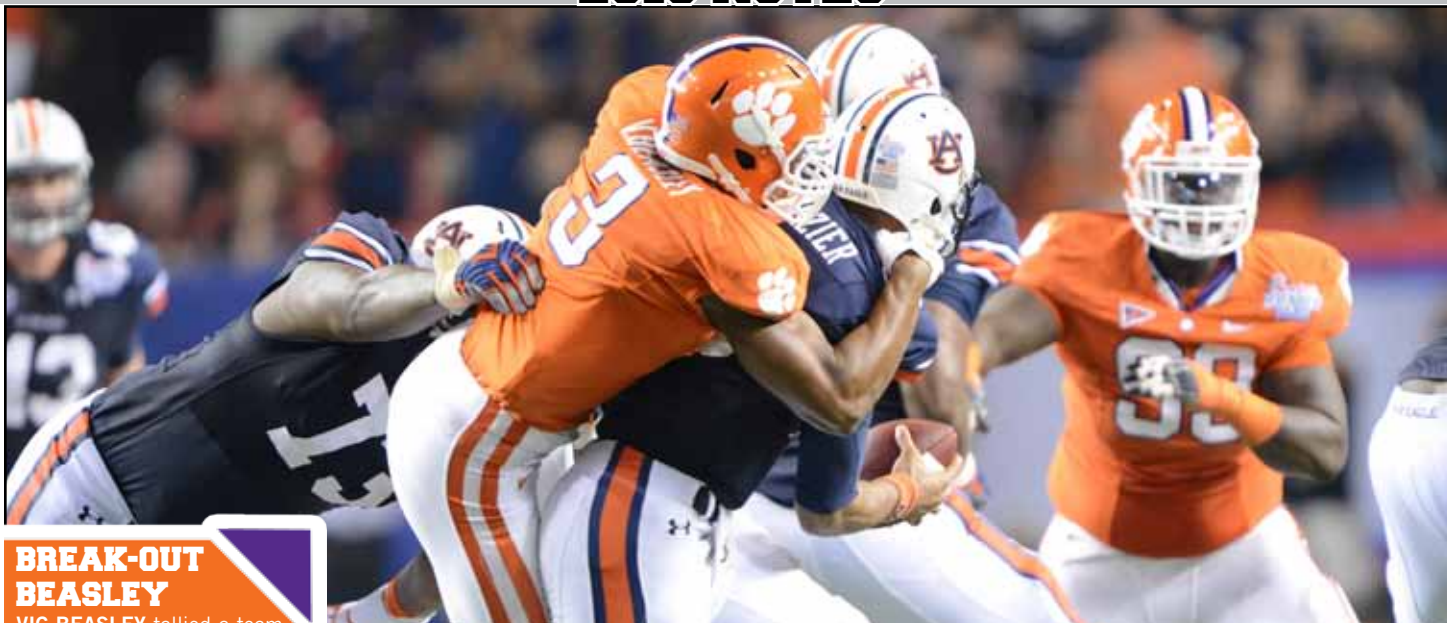

CARRYING THE LOAD

ROD McDOWELL had 12 carries for 81 of the Tigers' 754 yards in Clemson's 62-48 triumph over NC State. He is Clemson's leading returning rusher with 76 carries for 424 yards and five TDs in 2012.

that area in 2012, with the only loss coming at #4 Florida State when Clemson won the turnover margin 2-1.

Clemson Honored for Graduation Rate

Clemson was one of 18 schools to be honored by the AFCA for its graduation success rate of at least 90 percent. Each year, AFCA presents an academic achievement award to the school with the highest GSR, and also announces an honorable mention list.

Northwestern and Stanford both recorded graduation success rates of 100 percent for the six-year cohort. Clemson was joined on the list of schools with at least a 90-percent GSR by Air Force, Alabama, Boston College, Duke, Mississippi, Nevada, Northern Illinois, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Penn State, Rutgers, Stanford, TCU, Tulsa, Vanderbilt, and Wake Forest.

Clemson was joined by Alabama, Notre Dame, and Stanford as the only schools in the nation in the top 20 of the final BCS standings with at least a 90-percent graduation success rate.

Clemson Lauded for APR Scores

The Tiger football and golf programs were both honored when the NCAA released its Academic Performance Public Recognition Awards. Both were among the top-10 percent of all programs nationally in terms of APR scores.

It was the second time both programs have been among the top-10 percent in the nation. It is the second consecutive year for Dabo Swinney's football squad, while Larry Penley's golf team was also honored in 2004-05.

Fourteen football programs were honored by the NCAA. The list included ACC schools Clemson, Duke, and Miami (FL). The ACC was the only conference with three schools on the football list.

Clemson and Northern Illinois were the only schools in the nation to win their conference championship and be in the top-10 percent in the nation in terms of APR scores in 2011. Boise State, Clemson, and Stanford were the only schools to finish in the AP top 25 and in the top-10 percent in terms of APR scores in 2011.

The ranking includes APR scores for the 2007-08, 2008-09, 2009-10, and 2010-11 academic years.

Hopkins and Watkins Top Receiving Duo

The receiving duo of DeAndre Hopkins and Sammy Watkins is the top receiving yardage duo in Clemson history on a season basis. That was actually established in 2011 when they combined for 2,197 receiving yards in 14 games. They then combined for 2113 yards in 2012, and that is the second highest total for two receivers on the same Clemson team. In fact they are the only duo to go over 2000 yards for a season, and they did it twice.

In just two seasons (2011,12), they combined for 293 receptions for 4,310 yards and 36 touchdowns. Both earned All-America honors, Watkins in 2011 as a freshman and Hopkins in 2012 as a junior.

In 14 games in 2011, they combined for 154 receptions for 2,197 yards and 17 touchdowns, all bests for any receiving duo in Clemson history for one season. In 2012, they had 139 combined receptions for 2,113 yards and 21 touchdowns. They did that in four less games, as Watkins played just 10 games in 2012, plus Clemson played one less game as a team.

Presidential Pushups

It was a big week for Clemson President Jim Barker from September 9-15. First, he was acknowledged at the league press conference as an ACC president that had much to do with Notre Dame's move to the ACC (announced on September 12). That weekend during the third quarter of Clemson's game against Furman, Barker put on the Tiger mascot suit and did the Tiger's job of doing the pushups after Clemson scored to give the Tigers a 27-7 lead.

Barker put the Tiger suit on at halftime and walked around anonymously on the Clemson sidelines in the third quarter. When the Tigers scored at the 12:10 mark of the third quarter, Barker did the required 27 pushups after Andre Ellington's touchdown. At the conclusion of the exercise, he took off the mascot head, much to the delight of the crowd.

Sack-Man Beasley

Sophomore defensive end Vic Beasley recorded three sacks in Clemson's win over N.C. State. The tackles resulted in 21 negative yards against Mike Glennon. He finished fifth in the ACC in sacks (8).

What is amazing is that Beasley did not start a game and played only 288 snaps. He also had 18 tackles, two pass breakups, and eight quarterback pressures. Therefore, eight of his 18 tackles were sacks. He averaged 28 snaps a game over the last six contests and had six sacks in those games.

Beasley averaged a sack every 36 snaps in 2012. When Da'Quan Bowers led the nation in sacks in 2010, he averaged a sack every 44.1 snaps. The late Gaines Adams averaged a sack every 46 snaps in 2006 when he was named ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Year. Keith Adams averaged a sack every 54 snaps when he set the Clemson single-season record with 16 sacks in 1999.

Boyd 20-Game Winner

Tajh Boyd has a 21-6 career record as a starting quarterback, the seventh player in school history to quarterback the Tigers to at least 20 wins in a career. That 21-6 record includes a 13-1 mark at Memorial Stadium. He was the common denominator to Clemson's 13-game winning streak at home, the longest in school history. He has led Clemson to six wins over top 25 teams in his two seasons as the starter.

The all-time leader in wins is Rodney Williams, who won 32 games between 1985-88. Charlie Whitehurst is second with 25 wins.

Boyd Named ACC Player of the Year

Tajh Boyd was named ACC Player-of-the-Year and ACC Offensive Player-of-the-Year in the 2012 season. Earlier, Boyd was named First-Team All-ACC for the second straight season and is the first Clemson quarterback to be a two-time, first-team selection since Steve Fuller (1977,78).

Fuller was named ACC Player-of-the-Year in both of those seasons. Boyd is the first Clemson quarterback to receive ACC Player-of-the-Year honors since Fuller in 1978.

Boyd is the seventh different Tiger to be named ACC Player-of-the-Year and the second in the last four years. C.J. Spiller, now a running back with the Buffalo Bills, won the award in 2009. However, before Spiller, you have to go back to Michael Dean Perry in 1987.

Boyd Set Two Records at Wake Forest

Tajh Boyd set multiple records in Clemson's 42-13 win at Wake Forest on October 25. He completed 27-38 passes for 428 yards and five touchdowns in the contest. His 428 passing yards broke the school record of 420 passing yards, set by Charlie Whitehurst at Duke in 2002.

A look to the chart below shows that Boyd has nine of the top 11 passing yardage games in Clemson history. Six of them took place in 2012.

Boyd's Rusing Improvement

One of the reasons for Clemson's improvement to a top-10 offense in 2012 was the running of quarterback Tajh Boyd. The junior from Hampton, VA had 514 yards on 186 carries and 10 touchdowns. That is the fifth-highest season rushing total for a quarterback in Clemson history. His 10 rushing touchdowns are fourth-most among Clemson signal-callers as well.

In 2011, Boyd had 218 yards on 142 carries in 14 games and scored five touchdowns, so he had more than doubled his rushing yardage in one less game in 2012.

Boyd Stats Right With Heisman Finalists

A look to the national statistics shows that Tajh Boyd had comparable statistics with 2012 Heisman Trophy finalist quarterbacks Johnny Manziel (Texas A&M) and Collin Klein (Kansas State).

Boyd was best when comparing the three players in terms of passing efficiency, passing yards per game, yards per passing attempt, and passing touchdowns, pass plays of 25+ yards. He had just one less touchdown than Manziel in terms of touchdown responsibility.

Catanzaro Streak Fourth Longest in ACC History

Placekicker Chandler Catanzaro saw his streak of consecutive made field goals end at 20 when he just missed wide-left from 48 yards at Wake Forest on October 25. Ironically, his previous miss was also against Wake Forest at Clemson in 2011. He was still 18-19 in 2012 and has made 27 of his last 28 field-goal attempts over two years.

The 20 consecutive made field goals by Catanzaro are a Clemson record. The previous mark was 14 in a row by Obed Ariri in 1980, so Catanzaro has eclipsed a 32-year record by 43 percent. Seven of his 20 consecutive made field goals were from 40+ yards, including a career-long 50-yarder at Florida State, the kick that broke Ariri's record. He made three field goals during the streak from 30-39 yards and 10 from 18-29 yards.

Catanzaro is the most accurate placekicker in Clemson history from 40+ yards. For his career, he has made 20-27 field goals from 40+ yards (74 percent). His 20 made field goals of 40+ yards are second-most in school history, only behind Chris Gardocki, who made 23-39 field-goal attempts from that distance between 1988-90.

Catanzaro was named one of 20 semifinalists for the Lou Groza Award. It is the second consecutive year he was named a semifinalist.

Shuey Top Tackler Second Half of Season

Clemson has made an improvement in terms of defense over the last seven games, and it appears the improvement coincides with increased playing time for linebacker Spencer Shuey. Shuey started each of the last seven games, the first seven starts of his career, and had 69 tackles in those seven games.

Shuey had 15 tackles in his first start against Virginia Tech, then had 10 tackles in the win at Wake Forest and 12 tackles in the win at Duke. His 37 tackles over three games were the most by a Tiger over a three-game span since 2006, when

SHUEY EMERGES

SPENCER SHUEY emerged as Clemson's leading tackler the second half of the season, which included this safety against Georgia Tech. He is the top returning tackler with 93 stops last season.

Chris Clemmons and Nick Watkins both did it over the three-game span when Clemson finished the regular season with home games against Maryland, N.C. State, and South Carolina.

For the season, Shuey had 93 tackles, second on the team and the top total among returning players for 2013.

Swinney a Coach of Year Semifinalist

Head Coach Dabo Swinney was named one of 16 semifinalists for national coach-of-the-year by the Maxwell Football Club of Pennsylvania. Swinney was the only ACC coach on the list.

Swinney guided Clemson to a 11-2 record, a #14 ranking in the final BCS standings, and a #9 ranking in the post bowl USA Today poll. The Tigers had a 7-1 record in the ACC, tying for the Atlantic Division title. It is the third time in the last four years that Clemson has won the division. Clemson won seven consecutive games by 14+ points at one point, a first in Clemson history.

Swinney was named the winner of the 2011 Bobby Dodd National Coach-of-the-Year Award.

Swinney Among ACC's Best

Head Coach Dabo Swinney has moved into the top 10 in ACC history for winningest coaches on a percentage basis. That list includes coaches who have been in the ACC at least three years, and it applies to overall games and conference games. In fact, Swinney has a better percentage in league games than he does outside the conference.

Swinney has a 40-21 overall record (.6557), which is ninth-best. In league play, he is 27-12 (including ACC Championship games), as the 69.2 winning percentage in league play is seventh-best, just ahead of Jim Tatum and Frank Howard, two legendary coaches of the 1950s and 1960s.

- Clemson had a streak of 10 consecutive games with at least five touchdowns, a school record.
- Clemson had at least one rushing and one passing touchdown in every game in 2012. The streak actually extends 15 games over two years and 25 of the 27 games over the 2011 and 2012 seasons.

Clemson in top 20 in Attendance for 32nd Straight Year

Clemson finished 15th in the nation and first in the ACC in average home football attendance with 81,427 per game. The Tigers drew 569,988 for the seven home games. The final national ranking and average home attendance rank as the best for the Clemson program since 2006 when the Tigers were 14th with average of 81,506. Clemson has now finished in the top 20 in the nation in average home attendance 32 consecutive years.

Clemson Ranked in Final Top 10

Clemson finished ninth in the final USA Today poll and 11th in the final Associated Press poll. It is the first time since the 1990 season that Clemson has finished in the top 10 in either of the two polls.

Clemson was ranked 13th by USA Today and 14th by AP entering the bowl season. But the Tigers defeated LSU, then ranked seventh by USA Today and ninth by AP entering the bowl season, by a 25-24 score in the Chick-fil-A Bowl on December 31. It was the highest ranked team Clemson has defeated in a bowl game since the 2003 season when the Tigers defeated sixth ranked Tennessee in the same bowl, 27-14.

Clemson was ranked in every poll in 2012 and has a streak of 29 consecutive polls being ranked, the third longest streak in school history. This is the first time since the 2000 season and just the fourth time in history that Clemson was ranked in the top 25 of every poll during the season.

Clemson was last ranked in the top 10 at the end of the 1990 season when the Tigers were ranked ninth in both

BEYOND THE FIELD

Daniel Rodriguez received the FWAAC Courage award at the Orange Bowl in Miami Gardens, FL, during the 2013 BCS National Championship game. Rodriguez earned a purple heart and bronze star after his tour in Afghanistan.

1982, 1987, 1988 and 1990.

Clemson finished with an 11-2 record, its most wins in a season since 1981 when the Tigers were 12-0 and won the national championship.

Three of Clemson's 2013 opponents finished in the top 10 in the final USA Today and AP polls. Georgia finished fourth, while South Carolina was seventh, and Florida State eighth in the final USA Today polls.

Clemson Offense Much Improved under Morris

Clemson had one of the top offenses in the nation in 2012. The Tigers were fourth in passing efficiency (163.1), third in total touchdowns (68), sixth in scoring (41.0), ninth in total offense (512.7), 10th in total touchdowns (68), and 13th in passing yards per game (321.6). This strong offense led to the Tigers' rankings tied for first nationally in fourth down conversions (.778), first in red-zone scoring percentage (.949) and fifth in third down conversion percentage (.515). Clemson also led the nation in pass plays of 25 yards or more with 51.

These high rankings are all dramatic rankings improvements over the 2010 season, or before offensive coordinator Chad Morris arrived at Clemson. Clemson has gone from 111th in the nation to first in red-zone scoring percentage, from 100th to first in pass plays of 25 yards or more, from 86th to sixth in points per game, from 88th to ninth in total offense and from 102nd to sixth in yards per pass attempt.

Rodriguez Wins Orange Bowl-FWAA Courage Award

Clemson's Daniel Rodriguez was the winner of the 2012 Discover Orange Bowl-FWAA Courage Award, as selected by a panel of FWAAC members. Rodriguez, a redshirt freshman receiver from Stafford, Va., is playing for the Tigers after being awarded a Purple Heart and Bronze Star in Afghanistan.

final polls. It is the eighth season that Clemson has finished in the top 10 of at least one poll. Clemson also had a top 10 final ranking in at least one poll in 1950, 1978, 1981,

Rodriguez, who was chosen from several deserving nominees in a vote by a committee of FWAAC members, was presented the award and recognized in conjunction with the 2013 Discover BCS National Championship Game on Jan. 7.

Six Offensive Players Named First-Team All-ACC

Clemson had six of the 11 All-ACC players on offense according to the All-ACC team released by the Atlantic Coast Sports Media Association. The six Clemson players who made first-team were quarterback Tajh Boyd, center Dalton Freeman, wide receiver DeAndre Hopkins, running back Andre Ellington, tight end Brandon Ford and offensive tackle Brandon Thomas.

This is the first time in history Clemson has had six all-conference players on the first-team offense, and the first time any team has done it since Florida State accomplished the feat in 1995.

Kicker Chandler Catanzaro and safety Rashard Hall were named to the second team, while Malliciah Goodman and Sammy Watkins were named honorable mention.

Blanks Named Second-Team Freshman All-American

Clemson defender Travis Blanks was named a second-team Freshman All-American by Scout.com and Fox Sports. The native of Tallahassee, FL helped the Tigers to an 11-2 record and a #9 ranking in the final USA Today poll.

Blanks was eighth on the Clemson team in tackles with 51, including 40 first hits. He had two tackles for loss from his safety/linebacker position and has added six passes broken up. He started eight of the 13 games this year. The native of Tallahassee, FL had eight tackles at Florida State for his season high.

Blanks was one of three ACC players to make the Freshman All-America teams. Eddie Johnson, a linebacker from Miami (FL), was named first team, while Blanks was joined on the second team in the secondary by Deon Bush of Miami (FL).

Six Players Named Academic All-ACC

Clemson center Dalton Freeman was named to the All-ACC Academic team, for the fourth consecutive year according to the team announced by Commissioner John Swofford. Freeman was joined on the 52-member squad by Clemson teammates Jaron Brown, Chandler Catanzaro, Brandon Ford,

MR. VERSATILITY

TRAVIS BLANKS made his presence felt on the field at all times, starting eight of the 13 games in 2012 as a true freshman. For his efforts, Blanks was named to the Freshman All-America team by Scout.com and Fox Sports

Tyler Shatley and Gifford Timothy.

Only Duke had more than the six selections from Clemson and it marked the sixth straight year Clemson had at least five student-athletes named to the team. The program now has 29 Academic All-ACC selections since Dabo Swinney took over as head coach in October of 2008, more than any other five-year period in Clemson history.

Five of Clemson's 11 starters on an offense that averaged 41 points per game, best in the ACC, were named Academic All-ACC.

Clemson Signing Day Notes

- Clemson's 2013 signee class was ranked in the top 15 in the nation by Scout.com (12), ESPN.com (13), 247 Sports (13), and Rivals.com (14). It was ranked 20th by Sporting News.
- Each of Dabo Swinney's five recruiting classes have been ranked in the top 20 by ESPN.com, including three consecutive top 13 rankings between 2011-13. His 2009 class was 19th, 2010 was 19th, eight in 2011, 10th in 2012 and 13th this year.
- Ten schools have been ranked in the top 20 of the ESPN.com recruiting rankings five years in a row. The list includes Clemson, LSU, Alabama, Texas, Southern California, Florida, Georgia, Florida State, Ohio State and Oklahoma. Dabo Swinney joins Les Miles (LSU), Nick Saban (Alabama), Mack Brown (Texas), Mark Richt (Georgia), and Bob Stoops (Oklahoma) as the only coaches in the nation to have five consecutive top 20 recruiting rankings according to ESPN.com.
- Clemson is one of seven schools to have a top 13 signee class each of the last three years. The others are Florida State (1,2,9), Alabama (2,1,1), Georgia (6,5,10), Ohio State (7,6,3), Notre Dame (9,9,4) and Florida (12,4,2).
- Clemson signed 10 different players who were ranked among the top 150 players in the nation by at least one service. Mackensie Alexander was ranked in the top 100 by every service, including a number-four ranking by ESPN.com. Other top 150 players with their highest ranking include Ben Boulware (#78 ESPN.com), Tyson Dye (#86 by Prepstar), Wayne Gallman (#118 by Sporting News), Jayson Kears (#100 by Scout.com),

Dorian O'Daniel (#46 by Prepstar), Ebenezer Ogundeko (#126 by ESPN.com), Scott Pagano (#104 by Rivals.com), Adrian Baker (#129 by Prepstar), and Tyrone Crowder (#89 by Scout.com).

- ESPN.com has selected a top 150 since 2006. During that time Clemson has signed 43 top 150 players over this eight-year period. That includes six players this year in the top 150. Mackensie Alexander was ranked fourth, the second highest ranking for a Clemson signee by ESPN.com. The only player ranked higher was Da'Quan Bowers, who was ranked as the top player in the nation in the 2008 signee class.
- Clemson has signed 43 top 150 players according to ESPN.com. Twenty-two are defensive players and 21 are offensive players.

HEAVY HITTERS

Brian Dawkins was the first recipient of the Lifetime Achievement Award donning his name. Dawkins, a 16-year NFL veteran, received the award from Dabo Swinney and Dan Radakovich at the end-of-season banquet.

- Clemson's six top 150 ESPN.com players are tied for the third most by Tigers in the eight-year history of ESPN.com's rankings. The 2008 recruiting class had 10, while the 2011 class had seven. The 2012 class also had six. Five of the ESPN.com 150 signed in 2008 are already on NFL rosters (Bowers, Jamie Harper, Brandon Thompson, Antoine McClain and Dwayne Allen). Xavier Brewer and Andre Ellington will have a chance to join them in 2013.
- Clemson had six top 150 players by ESPN.com this year and four of the six are defensive players, including each of the three highest rated players, Mackensie Alexander (4), Ben Boulware (78) and Dorian O'Daniel (112).

Clemson Institutes Brian Dawkins Lifetime Achievement Award

Clemson Head Coach Dabo Swinney presented the first Brian Dawkins Clemson Lifetime Achievement Award to Brian Dawkins at the team's Football Banquet Jan 10.

Dawkins recently retired from the NFL after 16 years with the Philadelphia Eagles and the Denver Broncos. He was a nine-time Pro Bowl selection and played 224 games overall. He was a three-time All-ACC selection at Clemson between 1992-95 and was an AP All-American as a senior in 1995 when he led the ACC in interceptions.

"I got the idea to present an award like this from last year's experience with the Bobby Dodd Award," said Swinney, who won the Bobby Dodd National Coach of the Year Award in 2011. "The Dodd Award takes into account performance on the field, but also qualities like leadership, community service and others."

"Brian Dawkins epitomizes everything you strive to be on and off the field when it comes to being a Clemson football player. He is the ultimate professional and has represented this university with distinction in every way. He has set a standard of excellence in every way."

"So I will be honored to present the first Brian Dawkins Lifetime Achievement Award to Brian Dawkins."

Swinney said that the award would be presented annually to a former Clemson player who had been out of school for at least 10 years. A committee will make a selection each November. The player will be honored at the banquet in January and at a football game the following fall.

HEAD COACH DABO SWINNEY

At 43, Dabo Swinney is one of the youngest head coaches in the ACC and the country. However, his résumé is already stuffed with many significant accomplishments on a school, ACC, and national level.

First, his mere appointment to the position was significant. In October of 2008, he was named Clemson interim head coach, replacing Tommy Bowden, who had been his position coach as a player at Alabama and was Clemson's head coach since 1999. He led the Tigers to a 4-2 record over the remainder of the 2008 regular season, including a victory over Steve Spurrier's South Carolina Gamecocks in the regular-season finale. That strong finish led to a Gator Bowl bid against Nebraska.

On December 1, 2008, the interim tag was removed from the title and he was named the program's head coach. At the time, there had been 28 interim head coaches at the FBS level since 1970 and those coaches had combined for a record of 26-86-2. Only one of those 28 interim coaches posted a winning record, and that was Swinney. When he was hired as the head coach, Swinney became just the second interim coach to be elevated to the head coach position at the same school during that time period.

In five years (four full seasons) as the Tigers' head coach, Swinney has directed Clemson to a 40-21 overall record (.656) and a 26-11 record (.703) in ACC regular-season games. He has also led the Tigers to the ACC Championship game twice, won one ACC Championship, won or shared three ACC Atlantic Division titles, and has been named national coach-of-the-year.

In addition to leading the program to five bowl games on the field in his young career, his players have also excelled in the classroom. In his career as a head coach, his players have an APR score of 991, fifth-highest among active FBS coaches.

The 2012 season has been a groundbreaking year for Swinney's Tigers when you look at the overall consistency of the program. With an 11-2 overall record, including a 7-1 mark in the ACC, Clemson put back-to-back 10-win seasons together for the first time since a four-year streak from 1987-90.

The seven conference wins in the regular season set a school record. Clemson was co-champion of the ACC Atlantic Division and has won or shared the division crown three of the last four years. The school record for consecutive home wins (13) was also established, as was the record for consecutive wins by at least two touchdowns (7).

With Clemson's thrilling 25-24 win over #7 Louisiana State in the 2012 Chick-fil-A Bowl, the Tigers finished the season ranked #9 in the USA Today poll. It was Clemson's first top-10 finish in one of the two major polls since 1990. Clemson also reached the 11-win mark for the first time since its 1981 National Championship season and for only the fourth time in school history.

The Tigers were also #14 in the final BCS standings. It was the second straight year Clemson finished in the top 15 of the BCS standings, one of only eight schools who can make that claim each of the last two years.

The 2012 campaign featured a record-setting offense. Clemson had six of the 11 offensive players on the All-ACC first team chosen by media and over 80 school team and individual records.

Leading the way was ACC Player-of-the-Year Tajh Boyd, who has been the starting quarterback in all 21 Clemson wins over the last two years. He joined starting center Dalton Freeman as first-team All-Americans according to AFCA, just the third time since 1945 that the AFCA first-team All-America quarterback and center were from the same school.

Boyd's favorite wide receiver, DeAndre Hopkins, had 18 receiving touchdowns, second-most in the nation, and was as a second-team All-American. He was a big reason Clemson scored a school-record 533 points.

For the third time in his first four full seasons as head coach at Clemson, Swinney was a finalist for the 2012 Liberty Mutual National Coach-of-the-Year. He was also one of 16 semifinalists for the 2012 national coach-of-the-year by the Maxwell Football Club of Pennsylvania and was the only ACC coach on the list.

Swinney's 2011 squad, which ended the season ranked #22 in the nation, captured Clemson's first ACC title since 1991 when it defeated #3 Virginia Tech 38-10 in the ACC Championship game in Charlotte, NC. It tied for the highest-ranked team the Tigers have defeated in history and was the most points scored by an ACC team against Virginia Tech since it joined the league in 2004. The victory, the Tigers' second over the Hokies in 2011, gave Clemson its first 10-win season since 1990. The Tigers' four wins over top-25 ranked teams established a school record as well.

The Tigers jumped out to an 8-0 record and a #6 national ranking after being unranked in the preseason. Games 3-5 marked a tough stretch, as Clemson hosted #19 Auburn, who entered with a national-best 17-game winning streak, and #11 Florida State along with a road game at #10 Virginia Tech. The Tigers were victorious in all three contests by scores of 38-24, 35-30, and 23-3, respectively, marking the first time in history that an ACC team won three consecutive games over top-25 ranked (AP) teams. Clemson also held Virginia Tech without a touchdown for the first time in a game at Blacksburg since 1995.

For his efforts, he was named Bobby Dodd National Coach-of-the-Year in 2011 to become the first Tiger head coach to win a national coach-of-the-year award since 1981, when Danny Ford directed Clemson to the national title.

Swinney, who was also one of five finalists for the Eddie Robinson National Coach-of-the-Year award, one of 10 finalists for the Bear Bryant National Coach-of-the-Year award, one of 10 finalists for the Liberty Mutual Coach-of-the-Year award, and received the Regional AFCA Coach-of-the-Year award in 2011, led the Tigers to their first Orange Bowl berth since 1981 with the help of five First-Team All-ACC players.

Dwayne Allen (TE), Boyd (QB), Andre Branch (DE), Freeman (C), and Sammy Watkins (WR) all earned first-team honors, while Andre Ellington (RB), Chandler Catanzaro (PK), and Brandon Thompson (DT) earned second-team honors. Watkins was also Second-Team All-ACC as a specialist.

Allen received the John Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end and totaled 50 receptions for 598 yards and eight touchdowns. Boyd set the school record for total yards (4,046), passing yards (3,828), and passing touchdowns (33). Branch, a finalist for the Ted Hendricks Award, had an ACC-best 17 tackles for loss and an ACC-high 10.5 sacks, including tying school-records for tackles for loss (6) and sacks (4) in Clemson's win at #10 Virginia Tech. Freeman was a finalist for the Rimington Trophy as well.

Watkins was one of the most dynamic freshmen in the nation. The ACC Rookie-of-the-Year totaled 82 receptions for 1,219 yards and 12 touchdowns along with a 25.0-yard average and one touchdown on kickoff returns despite missing one game due to injury. Watkins teamed up with Andre Ellington to give Clemson a 1,000-yard receiver and 1,000-yard rusher, as Ellington had 1,178 rushing yards and 11 rushing touchdowns. Watkins was also an AP First-Team All-American, just the fourth in college football history as a first-year freshman.

Swinney became just the second Tiger coach to lead Clemson's program into a bowl game in his first two full years as head coach, joining his predecessor, Bowden. The 2010 schedule was one of the most challenging in school history, as nine bowl teams were on the regular-season slate and two of the four non-conference opponents were ranked in the top 25 when they played the Tigers, just the second time in 21 years the Tigers faced two top-25 non-conference opponents in the regular season.

The 2010 season included wins over bowl teams Georgia Tech, Maryland, and N.C. State. The Wolfpack were ranked #23 in the nation and were leading the ACC in scoring. But the Clemson defense held N.C. State to just one touchdown and 13 points. The team excelled defensively in 2010 and was 13th in the nation in scoring defense and in the top 25 in both total defense and passing defense.

C.J. Spiller was a unanimous first-team All-American in Swinney's first year, and defensive end Da'Quan Bowers duplicated the feat on the defensive side of the ball. Bowers won the 2010 Bronko Nagurski Award as the nation's top defensive player, and he received the Ted Hendricks Award as the country's top defensive end. He was also a finalist for the Bednarik Award and Lombardi Award. He led the nation in sacks (15.5) and tied for the national lead in tackles for loss (26).

Bowers was one of four First-Team All-ACC players in 2010, as he joined Jarvis Jenkins (DT) and DeAndre McDaniel (S) on defense and Chris Hairston (OT) on offense. Clemson and Maryland tied for the most First-Team All-ACC selections.

In 2009, Swinney's first full year as head coach, he led the Tigers to their first championship of the ACC's Atlantic Division. The Tigers came just six points short of winning their first ACC title in 18 years. Swinney was named ACC Coach-of-the-Year by Sporting News and was a finalist for the Liberty Mutual Coach-of-the-Year award.

Swinney accumulated nine wins, second-most among all FBS coaches in their first full year behind Oregon's Chip Kelly. The nine wins tied for fourth-most in ACC history for a first-year head coach. He also led the Tigers to their first bowl win since 2005 in the 21-13 victory over Kentucky in the Music City Bowl.

The Tigers reached the nine-win mark playing a schedule that included four games against top-15 opponents, just the second year in school history (1999 was the other) that Clemson played four games against teams ranked in the top 15 of the AP poll. The Tigers' three FBS non-conference opponents had a combined record of 29-10 in 2009. Clemson gave TCU one of its stiffest tests in a 14-10 Horned Frog victory on September 26.

Swinney's first season included a six-game winning streak at midseason, a streak that saw the Tigers score at least 34 points in every game, a first in school history. During that stretch, the Tigers defeated #8 Miami (FL) on the road. The 40-37 overtime victory tied for the highest-ranked team Clemson has defeated on the road in school history.

That was the second of six straight wins, the longest winning streak for the Clemson program in four years. The streak also included a 40-24 win over Florida State and Bobby Bowden, the Hall of Fame coach who is second in victories in FBS history. The winning streak brought Clemson to a #15 national ranking in the AP poll after the ACC Atlantic Division clinching victory over Virginia on November 21.

The Tigers had success on offense, defense, and special teams during the 2009 season. They were 28th in the nation and third in the ACC in scoring offense (31.1), while the defense was 20th in total defense (314.3) and seventh in pass defense (162.8). Clemson finished in a tie for fifth in the country in interceptions (21) as well.

Clemson added a school-record six kick returns for touchdowns in 2009, four on kickoff returns and two on punt returns.

The main reason Clemson was so outstanding on special teams was the play of college football's most dynamic player (Spiller) in 2009. The Tiger running back was named MVP of the ACC in 2009 and was a consensus first-team All-American. He had five kick returns for touchdowns during the 2009 season, an all-time Clemson record, and established the NCAA record for kickoff returns for touchdowns in a career with seven. He was also the only FBS player to score at least one touchdown in every game in 2009.

Overall, the Tigers held down three positions on the All-ACC First-Team and five spots on the second team. Only Virginia Tech had more representatives.

Swinney became Clemson's interim head coach on October 13, 2008 when Tommy Bowden stepped down. Then on December 1, 2008, the "interim" tag was removed, as he took over on a full-time basis as the Tigers' 25th head coach. He had been Clemson's assistant head coach for two years and was in charge of the wide receivers since 2003.

Swinney took over a 3-3 team and led it to a Gator Bowl bid against Nebraska. He guided Clemson to a 4-1 record over the last five games of the regular season, with the only loss at #24 Florida State. That 4-1 record to end the regular season tied for the best mark in the ACC for that time period. Four of his six regular-season opponents were later bowl participants.

Swinney hit the ground running in his first week as interim head coach, as he prepared for a 5-1 Georgia Tech team. He had to re-organize his staff, and regroup his team and Clemson Nation in just five days. While the Tigers lost by four points, he accomplished many goals in that first week through his outstanding leadership. One of the most impressive demonstrations of unity came during the team's "Tiger Walk."

Prior to the game against the Yellow Jackets, Swinney decided to have his team depart buses outside the Lot 5 parking lot near the WestZone at Memorial Stadium and experience the gameday atmosphere. Dressed in jackets and ties, the team was embraced by thousands of Tiger fans who stood 10 deep for the 200-yard march to the stadium. It was the centerpiece of his "All In" theme in his first week as head coach. It is a tradition that has continued.

In his second week as head coach, an off-week, he invited the Clemson student body to a practice, and nearly 1,000 students showed up. He spoke to the group and actually allowed some students to participate during practice, as they were selected to attempt a field goal, punt against a live rush, and field a punt. He also took the entire team to the Greenville Children's Hospital for a visit with young men and women fighting cancer.

He has continued his community involvement through his foundation. His foundation made the first contribution to the cancer fund established for former Boston College linebacker Mark Herzlich. Many schools followed his lead the remainder of the season.

The Liberty Mutual Coach-of-the-Year award evaluates coaching performances in terms of coaching excellence, sportsmanship, integrity, academic excellence, and community commitment. It is easy to see why Swinney was a national finalist for that award in his first full season as head coach in 2009, and again in both 2011 and 2012.

The 1993 Alabama graduate joined the Clemson staff prior to the 2003 season. In his first 10 years as an assistant or head coach, the Tigers have finished in the top 25 of the polls six times and totaled 17 wins over top-25 teams, including victories over Florida State (5), Auburn (2), Miami (FL) (2), Virginia Tech (2), Louisiana State (1), and Tennessee (1), during his tenure in Tigertown.

Swinney coached his wide receiver position to a level of consistency that had not been seen previously at Clemson. He had a wideout finish first or second in the ACC in catches in five of his six years as an assistant coach. In his first year, he had three of the top-10 receivers in the ACC, a first in Tiger history. He has coached a First or Second-Team All-ACC wideout (Derrick Hamilton, Aiyse Currie, Chansi Stuckey, Aaron Kelly, Jacoby Ford, Watkins, Hopkins) in nine of his 10 seasons at Clemson, also an unprecedented feat at Clemson.

In 2004 and 2005, he coached the ACC reception champion (Currie (2004), Stuckey (2005)). It was the first time Clemson had two different players lead the ACC in receptions in consecutive years. In 2007, Kelly led the ACC in yards, giving Swinney an ACC receiving king three out of four years. Stuckey earned First-Team All-ACC honors in back-to-back years, a first for a Tiger wideout in 25 years.

The play of Swinney's wide receivers was a big reason Clemson led the ACC in total offense, rushing offense, and scoring offense during the 2006 season, just the second time an ACC team led the conference in all three categories during the previous 25 seasons. The Tigers also led the league and set school records for yards per play (6.5) and touchdowns (55).

In 2007, Swinney coached Kelly, a First-Team All-ACC selection who led the league in receiving yards per game and touchdown catches (11). He also finished second in receptions per game with a school-record 88 catches, tied for the second-highest total in ACC history. His 11 touchdown catches set a Tiger record as well.

Kelly is Clemson's career reception leader with 232 catches and is second in ACC history. He also has one of the highest totals in Tiger history in career touchdown receptions with 20.

The Alabama native has a reputation as one of the top recruiters in the nation. In 2006, he was listed as the #5 recruiter in the nation by Rivals.com. It marked the second straight year that he was lauded by the website as a top-25 national recruiter. He signed 38 players in his five recruiting seasons as an assistant coach and was a major reason Clemson's 2008 recruiting class was rated #2 in the nation by ESPN.com when he signed 11 players. He was named one of the top-25 recruiters in the nation by Rivals.com in 2007 as well.

When Swinney accepted the interim head coaching position on October 13, 2008, he described his feelings as "bittersweet" because he was taking over for Bowden, who had been his first position coach at Alabama in 1989. He had also brought Swinney back to the coaching profession in 2003 and has had a profound effect on his life.

Both had followed similar paths as players, as Bowden was a walk-on at West Virginia and Swinney was a walk-on at Alabama.

Swinney received a commerce & business administration degree from Alabama in 1993 after lettering three times (1990-92). A walk-on who went on to earn a scholarship, Swinney was a wide receiver on Alabama's 1992 National Championship team. He was also named Academic All-SEC along with being an SEC Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll member in 1990 and 1992.

Along with his appearance in the 1993 Sugar Bowl, his Alabama teams played in the 1990 Sugar Bowl, 1991 Fiesta Bowl, and 1991 Blockbuster Bowl. Both Sugar Bowl appearances came after winning the SEC Championship game.

After his playing career, Swinney served as a graduate assistant from 1993-95 at Alabama, where he coached in the 1994 Gator Bowl and 1995 Citrus Bowl. In December of 1995, he received a master's degree in business administration from Alabama.

He became a full-time assistant coach at Alabama in February of 1996 under Head Coach Gene Stallings (now in the Hall of Fame) and coached a total of five seasons there on a full-time basis. He was assigned to coach the Crimson Tide's wide receivers and tight ends in 1996, a season that saw Alabama win the SEC Western Division title and make an Outback Bowl appearance. The following year, he solely coached the tight ends under Head Coach Mike DuBose.

In 1998, he coached Alabama's wide receivers, a position he held for three seasons. At the end of the 1999 campaign, Swinney coached the Crimson Tide in the 2000 Orange Bowl after winning the SEC Championship game. Wide receiver Freddie Milons was the game MVP.

During his time at Alabama, Swinney was a part of six teams with at least 10 wins, five top-10 finishes, one national title (1992), three SEC Championships (1989, 92, 99), and five SEC Western Division titles (1992, 93, 94, 96, 99) as a player and coach. He has coached the #2 receiver at Alabama (Milons) along with the #1 (Kelly), #2 (Hopkins), and #3 (Hamilton) receivers in Tiger history.

As an assistant coach, he had 20 former players either drafted or sign free-agent contracts with NFL teams. The list includes Hamilton, Currie, Kevin Youngblood, Stuckey, and Milons, an All-American at Alabama.

From April of 2001 through February of 2003, Swinney was in private business in Alabama. He married the former Kathleen Bassett in 1994. They have three sons, Will (14), Drew (12), and Clay (9).

ASSISTANT COACHES

MIKE REED

ASSISTANT COACH
DEFENSIVE BACKS
1st Season

- Was most recently the defensive backs coach at NC State the last six years
- Reed has been an assistant coach at the college level for eight years and at the NFL level for five seasons. He coached NC State All-American David Amerson, who ranks third in ACC history in total interceptions with 18. As a professional coach with the Philadelphia Eagles, he worked with former Clemson All-American and nine-time Pro Bowl selection Brian Dawkins.
- Reed helped the Wolfpack to four bowl games in his six years with the program (2007-12). That includes this season when NC State beat a top five Florida State team and played Vanderbilt in the Music City Bowl.
- Three times in the last five years NC State ranked in the top 20 in the nation in interceptions, including this past year when the Pack ranked 20th with 16.
- The 2011 NC State team had 27 interceptions, the most by any FBS school since 2003 when Nebraska had 32. The total ranks in a tie for second most in ACC history, and the most since 1994 when Virginia also had 27 interceptions.
- That year, Amerson had 13 interceptions to lead the nation, five more than any other player. It is tied for the second most interceptions in NCAA history. Amerson also led the nation in interception return yards with 205 that year and tied for the lead in interception returns for touchdown with two. Amerson was a unanimous All-American in 2011 when he was also a Thorpe Award finalist and won the Jack Tatum Award.
- In addition to Amerson, Reed also coached many other all-conference players at NC State. Amerson was a second-team All-ACC cornerback in 2012, while safety Earl Wolff was a first-team selection. In 2011 Brandon Bishop was an honorable mention selection. Overall, four different NC State players made an All-ACC team in his six years.
- Played on three bowl teams that finished with top 25 rankings in the AP poll, including the 1993 season when Boston College upset number-one ranked Notre Dame in South Bend, a 41-39 victory that denied the Irish of the 1993 National Championship.
- He played three seasons for Tom Coughlin, who has gone on to win two Super Bowl Championships with the New York Giants, and his senior year for Dan Henning, who has also gone on to coach in the NFL.
- Reed was the last selection of the 1995 NFL draft by the Carolina Panthers and he played two seasons for that team, 1995 and 1996. He also played for the NFL Europe team in Frankfurt and was the team captain of the 1999 Frankfurt team that won the World Bowl Championship.

PLAYING EXPERIENCE

played his college football at Boston College from 1991-94. During his college career he was an All-ECAC selection and a second-team All-Big East choice in 1993. He was one of four captains of the 1994 Boston College team.

EDUCATION

He graduated from Boston College in 1994 with a B.S. degree in communications with a minor in secondary education.
